

To whom it May Concern:

The referenced proposal to expand LPFM service, though I believe is a good one, will negatively affect FM translator service in my area. I listen to, as does my entire family (wife, 2 young children) to KLOVE, a Christian music program, every day. It is a most welcome alternative to the broadcast FM or AM programs that feature pop, or rock, or other formats with which I am not comfortable being played in my house without constant supervision. By eliminating this resource, the FM translator service, you will take away this benefit to me, my family, and my community. Yes, I do contribute to the funding of this resource, so it is more than just a capitalism discussion.

KLOVE provides a valuable service to the community by providing a WELCOME conservative format for music, Christian teaching, and support. Without a service like KLOVE, available ONLY through the FM translator service, there would be no other resource in this area to meet this demand.
